

Baby did not die, was adopted: Probe

Three persons have been detained by police in Madurai city in connection with illegal adoption of two toddlers

VIGNESH V & LALITHA RANJANI @Madurai

Investigations revealed that the one-year-old baby boy who was believed to be dead was, in fact, adopted by a couple illegally. Three persons have been detained by the city police in connection with illegal adoption of two toddlers, including the one-year-old boy Manickam, from a temporary shelter home run by Idhayam Trust at Reserve Line here.

Sources said that a childless couple – Kannan and Bhavani – residing at Ismailpuram, adopted one-year-old Manickam on June 13, and the couple Shahubarsathik and Anishrani from Kalmedu adopted two-year-old Dhanam on June 16.

While Kannan owns a jewellery shop, Shahubarsathik is a partner at a utensil manufacturing factory. The couples reportedly bought the children by way of making donations to the Trust.

The Tallakulam police detained Kannan, Bhavani, and Anishrani and rescued two children.

On Tuesday night, news emerged that Manickam was under the care of Idhayam Trust died of Covid at the Government Rajaji Hospital (GRH). Upon enquiry, it was found that no such infant was admitted to the GRH. Further, the collector ordered a probe into the alleged burial using fake documents.

Later on Tuesday night, the police started their investigation with Ishwarya, a 21-year-old girl from Sekkipatti near Melavalavu who is an inmate at the shelter home, and found that the documents were forged. Further, the Chief Executive Director of Idhayam Trust, GR Sivakumar, went absconding.

According to police, the mother was mentally disturbed and already had two kids. On June 13, Sivakumar and the field educator at Idhayam Trust MG Madharsha allegedly took the child from the mother, saying that the infant was infected by Covid. Days after, when she asked the NGO for her child, they took her to GRH and told her that the child was admitted there and that no one was allowed inside. "On June 29, she was made to believe that her infant had died," a police official said.

Work on intelligent methods to fight terror, says Vice-President

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

EXPRESSING concern over the use of drones to target the Jammu Air Force Station, Vice-President M Venkaiah Naidu on Wednesday called upon the research community and institutions like IITs to develop intelligent solutions to combat such threats.

He advised institutions like IITs to also focus on areas related to terrorism and come up with solutions to counter the efforts of terrorists.

Naidu pointed out that such low-flying drones used by terrorists could not be detected by military radars and therefore there was a need for innovative methods to deal with the problem. He was speaking after visiting India's first 3D-printed house at IIT-Madras. Naidu also commended the efforts of the team behind the 3D-printed house project – a joint collaboration of IIT-M and a startup, Tvasta Manufacturing Solutions.

V-P M Venkaiah Naidu

Speaking on higher education, Naidu suggested that premier institutes like IITs are best placed to foresee the upcoming technological revolutions and keep the country better prepared in seizing new opportunities.

He also advised higher education institutes to go beyond classroom programmes and prepare students for real-world challenges by inculcating a holistic approach to problem-solving. The Vice-President also stressed the need for IITs to identify the focus areas for technological intervention in our country.

Have no role in delay in portfolio allotment: BJP

DEBJANI DUTTA @Puducherry

THREE days after their swearing-in, five ministers of the AINRC-BJP government are yet to receive their portfolios. It is for Chief Minister N Rangasamy to allot the portfolios based on the agreement between the two parties, Nirmal Kumar Surana, Karnataka BJP vice-president and the party's political observer in charge of Puducherry told Express. The party said that it has no role in the delay in allotting portfolios.

There are 47 ministerial portfolios, which would be shared between the Chief Minister and the five ministers. Already, discussions had taken place between the CM and BJP Raja Sabha member Rajeev Chandrasekhar in Puducherry, he said. Asked whether the delay is on account of BJP wanting some key portfolios, Surana said that the issue was already decided. Even BJP is expecting allotment of portfolios to ministers without delay. "However, if the Chief Minister wants to have a discussion, I am ready to come and meet him," said Surana. Meanwhile, AINRC sources said that the CM would take a decision on the finalisation of portfolios in a day or two. Already, the home portfolio has been assured to BJP. Based on that, Minister A Namassivayam, the No 2 in the Council of Ministers, has designated himself as Home Minister on his Twitter account.

The Opposition has been critical of the delay, as more than 50 days have passed since the formation of the government
